

Beginning with the End in Mind

By: Alyssa Gonzales, Aaron Fain, Madison Henry

Begin with the End in Mind - What It Means

- You may not realize it, but you do it all the time. Beginning with the end in mind, that is.
- Beginning with the end in mind helps you to control your destiny before someone/something else does.

The Crossroads of Life

You have your whole life before you and you're standing at the crossroads of life and you have to decide which path you will take:

- Do you want to go to college or graduate school?
- Will you join a gang?
- Will you drink, smoke, do drugs?
- What will you stand for?
- Which morals will you follow?

This is all up to you!

What About Sex?

- Sex is an important decision to make in your life because this comes along with many consequences that you need to think through.
- We are free to choose our path in life, but we aren't able to choose the consequences that come along with our decisions.

What morals will you follow when it comes to this decision?

A Personal Mission Statement

- A personal mission statement is like a blueprint to your life.
- Your mission statement shouldn't look like anyone else's, it should be your OWN ideas.
- A mission statement will help open your eyes to what is really important to YOU.

Make Your Life Extraordinary

- Life is too short to waste time feeling bad about yourself.
- Only you are in charge of making your life extraordinary, so focus on the positives.

B-*Extra*ordinary!